Custom designed hang tags will get your product out of the bin and on display for ease of selection.

This type of tag can be designed as a template which will permit the option to print UPC barcodes and other variable information at your site, as needed. The template/variable printing approach makes it possible to apply the same tag to a variety of products which reduces cost and saves inventory space.

Newly designed thermal transfer printers with print speeds up to 16 inches/sec include ribbon saving features and provide cost effective tags that can easily replace alternate forms of packaging.
